BUSAN, Korea (May 26, 2018) – Thailand's Annop Arromsaranon defeated top qualifier Anthony Simonsen of Austin, Texas, 221-208, to win the PBA International-World Bowling Tour Busan Cup Saturday on bowling lanes constructed outdoors in Pusan Gwangalli Beach Park in Busan, becoming the second bowler from Thailand to win a PBA Tour title.

In the sweltering heat of the outdoor setting, Simonsen left splits he was unable to convert in the fourth and fifth frames as the 33-year-old Thai opened a 44-pin lead and raced away to victory despite leaving a "big four" 4-6-7-10 split in the eighth frame. He claimed the 30 million won (US$27,875) first prize and joined 2017 PBA-WBT Thailand winner Jojoe Yannaphon as Thailand's second PBA Tour title winner.

Simonsen, a 21-year-old two-hander, had earned the top qualifying position for the four-man stepladder finals with a six-game, 1,480 total posted at Rainbow Square Bowling Center.

In the preliminary matches, Korea's Choi Seokbyeong defeated countryman Choi Wonyoung, 247-217, to start the Busan Cup's Open Division finals. Arromsaranon then eliminated Choi Seokbyeong in the semifinal match, 215-203.

The Go Bowling! PBA Tour's next event will be the PBA Xtra Frame Tour Greater Jonesboro Open at Hijinx in Jonesboro, Ark., June 1-3.

2018 USBC Senior Masters and Super Senior Classic set to Begin in Las Vegas

ARLINGTON, Texas - Professional Bowlers Association Hall of Famers Ron Mohr of North Las Vegas, Nevada, and Walter Ray Williams Jr. of Oxford, Florida, both have found success early in the 2018 PBA50 season, and they'll look to continue that momentum over the next two weeks in Las Vegas.

Mohr and Williams will be on the lanes at the Sam's Town Bowling Center as the defending champions in the Super Senior Classic and United States Bowling Congress Senior Masters, respectively.

Mohr, a member of the 2018 PBA Hall of Fame class, will be the first to put his title on the line. The Super Senior Classic, for USBC members age 60 and older, will run from May 30-June 3.

Williams will be joined by more than 250 of the world's best bowlers age 50 and older, including Mohr, for the Senior Masters from June 4-10.

Prior to the stint in Las Vegas, which includes the Suncoast PBA Senior U.S. Open presented by Storm from June 10-15, the West-Coast swing of the 2018 PBA50 season will kick off in Brentwood, California, a relaxing eight-hour jaunt from the Entertainment Capital of the World.

If Mohr finds the same success he enjoyed in the first four events of the season, he could find himself rolling back into his driveway in North Las Vegas only a few hours before his first qualifying block at the Super Senior Classic.

The championship round of PBA50 Northern California Classic presented by MOTIV is scheduled for Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. local time. In four events this season, Mohr has made the five-player stepladder finals twice, with a best finish of third, and has been the first player out on one other occasion.

"In a tournament like the Super Senior Classic, where pinfall carries throughout the event, it's crucial to figure out the pattern as quickly as possible, but, even though I

Women's Championships Weekly Glance

New leaders in every Diamond Division event at 2018 USBC Women's Championships

With many of the top female bowlers heading to Reno for the United States Bowling Congress Queens, several made an early trip to the National Bowling Stadium to compete at the USBC Women's Championships and rewrote the Diamond Division standings at the 2018 event.

The lead in Diamond Team was the first to change as Golden Approach Pro Shop of Dayton, Ohio, cruised to the top spot May 14 with a 2,703 total.

Led by Rebecca Whiting's 713 series, Golden Approach Pro Shop used games of 925, 885 and 893 to best High 5 Gear of Franklin, Wisconsin, which previously held the lead with 2,500. Whiting was joined by three-time USBC Women's Championships titlist Shannon Pluhowsky (693), Rebekah Martin (660) and Kelly Belzeski (637).

USBC Hall of Famers Robin Romeo of Newhall, California, and Jeanne Naccarato of Tacoma, Washington, used a big final game May 15 to edge into the Diamond Doubles lead with 1,405.

Romeo, a five-time Women's Championships titlist, fired 278 in her final game for a 720 series, while Naccarato, a four-time winner at the Women's Championships, rolled a 255 game for a 685 total, lifting them past former Junior Team USA members Gazmine Mason of Cranston, Rhode Island, and Jadee Scott-Jones of Newport, Rhode Island, who had taken the lead earlier that day with 1,398.

Romeo and Naccarato won the Diamond Doubles title at the 2014 event, which was held at the nearby Reno-Sparks Convention Center.

Teammates Joely O'Grady of Rahway, New Jersey, and Julia Bond of Aurora, Illinois, took over the top spots in Diamond Singles and Diamond All-Events, respectively, with scores of 754 and 2,128 on May 15.

O'Grady got off to a slow start at the NBS, posting sets of 533 in team and 513 in doubles, but with the support of her teammates and husband, Professional Bowlers Association Tour champion Matt O'Grady, was able to make the right ball change on the way to games of 275, 246 and 233.

Bond, a member of Team USA, made the most of her Women's Championships debut, firing sets of 720 in singles, 710 in team and 698 in doubles.

Sharon Powers of Lakewood, Colorado, previously held the lead in Diamond Singles and Diamond All-Events with 701 and 1,955, respectively.

Diamond Team consists of four-player teams with a combined entering averages of 725 and above, while Diamond Doubles features pairs with combined entering average of 380 and above. Diamond Singles and Diamond All-Events includes bowlers with entering averages of 190 and above.

Just Paying Attention

By Mark London
Mark@TheBowlingNews.net

It was over almost as quickly as it began. But yet, he did get to work a dream career assignment taking over PBA lead announcing duties almost two years ago. A veteran sportscaster, ESPN's Dave LaMont had also worked a handful bowling telecasts in recent years, even on other networks.

Having seen his work in person at the two PBA events telecast by ESPN from Houston in 2017, I saw his work up close. He and the crew had fun and were relaxed, before, during, and after the show. The great chemistry between him, color analyst Randy Pedersen, and sideline reporter Kimberly Pressler was easy to see.

LaMont definitely gets it, history and all. First he mentioned the thrill of working at AMF Riviera Lanes, for twenty-eight years the home of the PBA's signature event, similar to working in other great sporting stadia. The second reference heard nearly pinched my ear off. As the epic 1970 Don Johnson 299 game was brought up on this year's telecast, LaMont said he remembered watching it as a young boy. I did too, about ninety miles east of Riviera.

Can't really describe it other than using the phrase, 'true professionals.' As you are about to read, LaMont explains that as well.

JPA: What's next on your announce schedule, besides working with Mac Brown on NCAA College Football games?

Dave LaMont: I have no idea yet what my fall will look like. I'm calling United Soccer League games on ESPN+ and appearing part-time on the Paul Castronovo Show (mornings on the Big 105.9 FM) in South Florida. I would love the chance to work with Mack Brown again, the man is a saint.

JPA: Based on some of your observations, you've watched the Association for many years. What are some of the matches or events you would have liked to call?

LaMont: I have been lucky enough to call all the majors (including the 2015 US Open on CBS Sports Net). Checking Riviera off the list this year was great, that building represents a ton of PBA history. I never did get a 300 game though.

JPA: Of the ones you did call, what were the ones you were thankful to call?

LaMont: I was thankful to call all of them. The 2017 WSOB stood out because every match had some emotional story line from Liz Johnson to Jesper Svensson...Richie Teese's parents flying from England, Belmo fighting illness, that event had everything. Also, anytime there was a major on the line, that makes the show all the more special. The T of C in Oklahoma, where E. J. Tackett won on the bench, was remarkable to see.

JPA: Compared to athletes from other sports, what physical and mental qualities have impressed you the most about PBA players?

LaMont: The physical and mental durability it takes to win a PBA event is something to see. The players deal with constant change on the lanes, with no pair seemingly the same and in a six or eight game block, the player who adjusts best usually wins. The closest sport is obviously golf, dealing with a variety of flagstick placements, greens, etc. I never thought how topography could count in an indoor sport, and I am amazed how side by side lanes play differently when they are inches apart.

JPA: What other sports personalities recognized you as the lead PBA announcer? Was there anyone else even outside sports who knew you from PBA telecasts?

LaMont: No. I did receive a lot of feedback from friends who didn't realize I was announcing bowling. I hear a lot of "I happened to have ESPN on and heard your voice, that's really cool". I heard a really nice story the other day from a viewer who was watching us while a family member was in a Cardiac ICU, and she said "it felt like you were there with us". You can't beat that.

JPA: Anything been brought up by ESPN about doing other bowling telecasts In the future?

LaMont: I have nothing to report there but I'm hopeful I can remain involved with the PBA in some capacity, perhaps Xtra Frame if they need me.

JPA: Finally, what will you miss most about working with the PBA crew, and Randy and Kimberly?

LaMont: Everything. I will miss our time together on an off the lanes. We developed a great working and personal relationship and I'm delighted Randy and Kimberly, as well as many on our crew, have become friends. We worked very well together and I think turned out the best product possible. I will miss that terribly.

##############

Finally this week, as Da Commish posted to his Facebook page a few weeks ago, he'll be in Boston for a presentation on the evening of Friday June 8. Before the Red Sox -White Sox series opener at Fenway Park, PBA member Mookie Betts will receive his PBA 300 game ring from PBA Commissioner Tom Clark. The Red Sox all-star outfielder and 2018 American League MVP candidate, earned the bling at last fall's World Series of Bowling.

Clocking in with over 460,000 views, here's the XtraFrame coverage: (www.youtube.com/watch?v=cwHRegcjasg).

In almost a JPA exclusive, according to Clark, Betts' ring will have a green inlaid stone.

PBA50 Tour Begins Western Swing with Northern California Classic in Brentwood May 27-30

BRENTWOOD, Calif. (May 24, 2018)-- After a three-week break, the PBA50 Tour heads west for the PBA50 Northern California Classic presented by MOTIV May 27-30 at Harvest Park Bowl in Brentwood, Calif.

As the PBA50 Tour makes its western swing for 2018, recent PBA50 Johnny Petraglia BVL Open winner and 2017 PBA50 Rookie of the Year Michael Haugen Jr. holds the early season points lead over PBA Hall of Famer Walter Ray Williams Jr. and 2018 PBA50 National Championship winner Lennie Boresch Jr.

The fifth stop of the season will be covered live from start to finish on PBA's online bowling channel Xtra Frame beginning May 28. For Xtra Frame subscription and complete schedule information visit www.xtraframe.tv.

In last year's Northern California Classic, PBA Hall of Famer Amleto Monacelli won all four stepladder matches and eventually beat Hugh Miller of Mercer Island, Wash., 229-198, in the title match for his eighth career PBA50 Tour title. Monacelli also won the Northern California Classic in 2015.

In the second match of last year's finals, Monacelli defeated Chris Warren, 296-280, to set a new PBA50 record for highest scoring match in a PBA50 Tour championship final round.

Other Hall of Famers competing in Brentwood will be four-time PBA50 Tour winner Parker Bohn III and 2018 inductee Ron Mohr, who is a two-time PBA50 Player of the Year and the winner of nine PBA50 Tour titles.

Following the Northern California Classic, the PBA50 Tour heads to Las Vegas for the USBC Super Senior Classic (for players 60 and over) May 31-June 3; USBC Senior Masters, June 4-10, both at Sam's Town, and the Suncoast PBA Senior U.S. Open presented by Storm at the Suncoast Bowling Center, June 11-15.

In addition to the player of the year race, the players are battling to become one of the top 12 in points to earn an invitation to the season-ending PBA50 Storm Invitational which will be held Sept. 28-30 at Planet Fun Bowling Entertainment Center in Shallotte, N.C.

Northern California Classic competition begins with the first of two eight-game qualifying rounds on Monday, May 28 at 8 a.m. to be followed by the second round on Tuesday, May games at National Bowling Stadium

Three-time USBC Women's Championships titlist Lindsay Boomershine of Perry, Utah, and 2012 USBC Queens champion Diandra Asbaty of Chicago became the 26th and 27th players in tournament history to roll perfect games when they achieved the feat May 16.

Boomershine finished her doubles set at the National Bowling Stadium with 12 consecutive strikes for a 762 series, and Asbaty connected for her 300 game during the second game of her singles set, finishing with a 729 series.

Florida bowler reaches milestone at USBC Women's Championships

Eva Lou Rhoads of Englewood, Florida, became the latest bowler to join the 50-Year Club at the USBC Women's Championships on May 14.

The 82-year-old right-hander began her tournament career at the 1965 event in Portland, Oregon, and her journey has taken her to 35 cities and 23 states along the way.

To commemorate her milestone at the National Bowling Stadium, Rhoads received a plaque, chevron and necklace.

A look ahead

Competition at the 2018 USBC Women's Championships will resume May 23 at 8 p.m. Eastern.

The Women's Championships took a brief hiatus to welcome the USBC Queens to the National Bowling Stadium from May 16-22.

USBC SENIOR MASTERS

won't be able to make it to the practice session, I still feel good going in," said Mohr, a nine-time PBA50 champion and two-time PBA50 Player of the Year. "I'm excited about the opportunity but not at all looking at it like I'm going in to defend a title. Instead, it's a chance to maybe capitalize on another competitive opportunity, which I'm extremely grateful for, and add to the success I've had there."

Qualifying at the 2018 Super Senior Classic will include 12 games over two days (six games each day), with 1 in 4 bowlers advancing to the Cashers' Round based on total pinfall.

The top 12 bowlers after the six-game Cashers' Round, based on 18-game pinfall totals, will advance to round-robin match play and have a chance to advance to the unique group stepladder portion of the event.

The stepladder finals of the Super Senior Classic will be broadcast live on BowlTV on June 3 at 2 p.m. Eastern. The winner will take home $8,000.

A year ago, Mohr was the top seed for the finals at the Super Senior Classic for the second consecutive time. He lost to Japan's Junichi Yajima in the 2016 title match.

The two met again for the 2017 championship, with Mohr besting the defending champion, 230-188. The win ended a run of 12 championship-round appearances without a victory for Mohr, who had collected his last PBA50 Tour title in 2012.

"To that point, I'd had many top-five appearances and opportunities to win again, but things just hadn't been working out," Mohr said. "I knew I had a pretty good look, and I'd been competitive and knocking on the door, so I hoped that win was coming. You always wonder when it will be your last chance or last time in that position, and it also proves that confidence can be fragile."

Mohr now is 62 years old but maintains a daily fitness regimen that includes hundreds of pushups and situps. While the exercises aren't as effortless as they may have been in the past, he has no intentions of changing the things that have helped him become such a prolific senior standout.

Williams has been an icon on the lanes for decades, and last year at the Sam's Town Bowling Center, the winningest competitor in PBA history added one more unique accolade to his list of accomplishments when he became the first bowler in history to win the USBC Masters and Senior Masters twice each.

He entered the championship round at the 2017 Senior Masters as the top seed and defeated left-hander Andy Neuer of Lewisburg, Pennsylvania, 248-199, to claim the coveted title and $16,000 top prize.

Williams, also a USBC Hall of Famer, won his first Senior Masters title in 2014, also in Las Vegas, and is one of seven two-time winners at the event. His Masters victories came in 2004 and 2010, both at the National Bowling Stadium in Reno, Nevada.

A Senior Masters victory in 2018 would help the 58-year-old right-hander reach another milestone as the only three-time winner at the event and first player since Tom Baker in 2007 to successfully defend a Senior Masters title.

Baker and Williams are joined on the list of two-time winners by Pete Couture (1998, 2002), Dave Davis (1995, 1996), Gary Dickinson (1997, 2004), Dale Traber (2009, 2011) and Pete Weber (2013, 2016). Only Williams and Dave Soutar (1973, 2000) have won both the Masters and Senior Masters.

"I look to win any tournament I go into, and anytime you can make that happen, it's really nice," said Williams,

Belmonte, Kent Lead After First PBA Tour Finals Positioning Round

ALLEN PARK, Mich. (May 22, 2018) – After the opening positioning round of the PBA Tour Finals, which aired on CBS Sports Network Tuesday, reigning PBA Player of the Year Jason Belmonte and four-time PBA Tour winner Marshall Kent emerged as the leaders in their respective groups heading into next week's second positioning round at Thunderbowl Lanes.

The top money earners on the Go Bowling! PBA Tour between 2016 and the first four months of 2018 include 2017 runner-up Belmonte, Dom Barrett, Anthony Simonsen and Sean Rash in Group 1, and defending champion EJ Tackett, Jesper Svensson, Kent and Tommy Jones in Group 2. The eight players opened the PBA Tour Finals by bowling one game each on PBA's 36-foot Johnny Petraglia and 42-foot Mark Roth lane conditions.

In a test of each player's ability to navigate vastly different PBA lane conditions, positioning round competition takes place on two lanes which are dressed with lane conditioner that incorporates blue dye to help fans visualize the conditions. Each player will bowl a total of four games on four different oil patterns with total pinfall within each group determining positions for the final rounds.

Belmonte took the lead in Group 1 with a 491 two-game total after bowling 236 on the Petraglia condition and 255 on the Roth condition. He was followed by Simonsen, 483 (236, 247); Rash, 379 (178, 201), and Barrett, 350 (205, 145).

"The two different conditions required two different plans of attack," said Belmonte. "On the Petraglia condition I used urethane and played outside. On the Roth condition, I used a reactive ball and hooked the ball more.

"At this point you play what's in front of you," he added. "It's really not too different than what you'd experience in any other tournament except the pace is much faster and you have to make your adjustments faster. It's bang-bang, get up and throw it, and hope you've made the right decisions."

Kent led Group 2 with a 458 pinfall after a 238 on the Petraglia condition and 220 on the Roth condition. He was followed by Tackett, 448 (236, 212); Svensson, 447 (224, 223), and Jones, 419 (257, 162).

"I got into a good comfort level on both conditions pretty quickly and had a good look on both lanes," Kent said. "I think I only threw one bad shot.

"I like the faster pace because you can stay in a good rhythm," Kent added. "Even though you're having to deal with the different conditions, the quick pace prevents you from overthinking what you need to do."

Next week's second positioning round (on CBSSN Tuesday, May 29 at 8 p.m. ET) will put the players on the 39–foot Don Carter and 45-foot Dick Weber lane conditions. The four-game pinfall totals will determine each player's position for their respective group stepladder semifinals.

The Group 1 semifinal stepladder will air on CBSSN June 5 at 8 p.m. ET and the Group 2 stepladder will air on June 12, also at 8 p.m. The final match of each semifinal stepladder will be a best-of-two-game match with ties broken by a 9th and 10th frame roll off. The two group winners will then meet in another best-of-two-game championship match which will air June 19 at 8 p.m. using the same stepladder format.

who owns 47 PBA Tour titles and 11 PBA50 victories, including two majors.

In four PBA50 events this season, Williams has two runner-up finishes, a fifth-place effort and a ninth-place performance. He continues to put himself in position to win, much as Mohr had prior to his Super Senior Classic win. Now, it's just a matter of the pieces falling into place as they have more than 100 times before.

"It would be nice to get some breaks on TV," Williams said. "I've bowled some decent games on TV this year, and in all three games I lost in the stepladders, I bowled pretty well, but things just didn't work out, which is part of the game. Fortunately, I've been getting there, so that's a positive note. I just need to continue bowling well and maybe a little better than that."

Williams also made the most of the break between the first two swings of the season by competing in other events. Along with the opportunity to stay competitive and sharp, the additional events also helped show him some things he needed to work on before the Brentwood stop.

His travels included a visit to the USBC Open Championships and Bowlers Journal Championships presented by USBC in Syracuse, New York, which offered him two challenging lane conditions.

"I need to make better shots," said Williams, who posted a 1,903 all-events total at the 2018 Open Championships. "I've been bowling pretty well lately, but I bowled in some other tournaments since the Senior Tour finished and had a couple of not so great finishes, which was a little disappointing. I plan to practice a little bit these last couple of days, and I bowled decent here (in Syracuse), so, overall, I feel pretty good about what I'm doing. Hopefully, I can just make a lot of great shots and the right decisions, and that will help me to a good finish."

The Senior Masters is considered a PBA50 major
