

United States, Colombia Win Singles at 2019 Pan American Games

Men's Gold Medalist Nick Pate and Women's Gold Medalist Clara Guerrero and Bronze Medalist Maria Jose Rodriguez

By: Matt Cannizzaro

LIMA, Peru - Team USA's Nick Pate claimed the singles gold medal Tuesday at the 2019 Pan American Games, and his path to the top of the podium may have been more about perseverance and mental toughness than it was about choosing the right ball or line.

The 24-year-old right-hander won the title with a dramatic 190-189 victory over defending champion Marcelo Suartz of Brazil at the Bowling Center of La Villa Deportiva Nacional (VIDENA).

Suartz stepped up needing nine pins on his fill ball to retain the title, but he left the

3-6-10 combination on his final offering to fall short.

After Pate left, and failed to convert, the 4-10 split in his final frame, Suartz could've locked up the win with a strike but left the 6 and 10 pins on his first shot.

Both players struggled to strike on the right lane, with Pate leaving solid 9 pins in the fifth and seventh frames and Suartz going high on five of the six shots he threw on that lane.

"It's possible my shot in the 10th frame was fast, but I really liked it off my hand, to be honest, and I wouldn't have changed anything," said Pate, a two-time member of Team USA. "To watch what happened to Marcelo was mindboggling because he's such a great bowler. I was fortunate this time that it went my way, and I'm ecstatic. It's something that will always have my name next to it, and I'm looking forward to celebrating with my friends and family."

Professional Women's Bowling Association Tour champion Clara Guerrero of Colombia earned a Pan Am Games gold medal for the second consecutive time, this time defeating top seed Aseret Zetter of Mexico, 198-171.

Guerrero, a 37-year-old right-hander who won the doubles title with fellow PWBA champion Rocio Restrepo at the 2015 Pan American Games, struck three consecutive times, starting in the eighth frame, to seal the victory.

Guerrero started the final match with two open frames, while Zetter began with a double. Back-to-back open frames from Zetter in the sixth and seventh frames allowed

PBA Tour Heads East for 3 FloBowling PBA Summer Tour Stops

By: Bill Vint

CHICAGO - The best bowlers in the world are on their way to the East Coast for a three-tournament series as part of the FloBowling PBA Summer Tour, a 10-event program that features lucrative side benefits for those bowlers who perform at a high level across a variety of scoring challenges in a variety of locations.

Those who excel will be rewarded with bonus prize money and incentives including bonus cash to the top five in the USBC Cup points standings, eight berths in the end-of-summer FloBowling ATX Invite and eight expenses-paid trips to China for the inaugural PBA China Tiger Cup in November. It's all part of the 2019 Go Bowling! PBA Tour.

The first stop on the eastern swing will be the PBA Harry O'Neale Chesapeake Open hosted by AMF Western Branch in Chesapeake, Virginia, Aug. 9-11, where seven-time

PBA Tour titlist Dick Allen of Lexington, South Carolina, will defend his 2017 title, won during the PBA Tour's last visit to Chesapeake. Allen also will be trying for his third title of the 2019 season.

The Chesapeake Open is named in honor of long-time PBA South Region tournament manager Harry O'Neale, who was inducted into the PBA Hall of Fame for his service to the organization in 2016.

Ten Pin Alley Family Fun Center in Wilmington, North Carolina, will host the second stop, Aug. 12-14, where 22-year-old two-hander Anthony Simonsen of Little Elm, Texas, won his third career title in Wilmington's inaugural PBA Tour event in 2017. Puerto Rico's Cristian Azcona is the defending champion.

The stars of the PBA will complete their eastern swing Aug. 16-18 at Mid-County Bowl-

O'Keefe Wins Third Title of 2019 at PWBA East Hartford Open

By: Aaron Smith

EAST HARTFORD, Conn. - Shannon O'Keefe of Shiloh, Illinois, continued her dominance on bowling's biggest stages Saturday after collecting her third title of the 2019 Professional Women's Bowling Association Tour season at the PWBA East Hartford Open.

O'Keefe, the top overall seed, delivered in the ninth and 10th frames at Silver Lanes to secure her 11th career PWBA Tour title, defeating Germany's Birgit Pöpller, 225-203. O'Keefe claimed the $10,000 top prize with the win, which was broadcast live on CBS Sports Network.

Neither player relented in the championship match, but back-to-back spares in the eighth and ninth frames from Pöpller gave O'Keefe the opportunity to take the title.

After talking with her husband, Bryan, about her pace to the line just moments before her final frames, she made the adjustment she needed to strike in the ninth and first shot of the 10th frame to give herself the opportunity to secure the win. She knocked over nine pins on her next delivery to seal the victory.

O'Keefe now finds herself in a familiar position as she increased her lead in the PWBA Player of the Year race, but she's focusing on a different mindset in 2019 as she looks to continue the momentum from another big win last month as part of Team USA.

Pöpller put together six consecutive strikes in the middle of her semifinal win to move past 2018 PWBA Rookie of the Year Jordan Richard of Tecumseh, Michigan, 236-207.

Pöpller, the 2017 PBA/PWBA Striking Against Breast

Cancer Mixed Doubles champion with Jason Sterner, had to earn her spot in the elite field this week through a pre-tournament qualifier (PTQ) on Thursday at Silver Lanes, since she sat outside the top 24 in points heading into competition this week.

Just Paying Attention

By Mark London
Mark@TheBowlingNews.net

Part two of the annual JPA Troy Walker Media columns looks at marketing in today's sports world. As I hinted last week, what was not desired, wanted, or appreciated years ago is now all that, a bag of chips, and probably even a new iPad.

By February 1994, PGA Commissioner Deane Beman and the actor who made golf greenskeeping fashionable, Bill Murray, were having a public feud. Murray made the daring observation Beman was banning him from PGA Tour pro am events for literally having too much fun.

According to a New York Times story, at the 1993 PGA Pebble Beach Invitational Pro Am, Murray had pulled an elderly woman out of the grandstand and dragged her into a greenside bunker. Beman was not pleased and had told tournament executive director Lou Russo before the 1994 Pebble Beach Pro Am to tone things down, calling Murray's behavior "inappropriate and detrimental to golf." Even legendary CBS-TV producer Frank Chirkinian limited Murray's airtime, showing limiting coverage to a few shots on the 18th hole.

All this was going on while it was also acknowledged Murray was the biggest celebrity draw of the week, allowing the tournament to set the five-day attendance record in just three days. Murray's playing partner, Scott Simpson, a member of the tour's bible study group at the time, said he wasn't crude, offensive, and never swore in two years being his partner, and could not believe anyone was against what Murray was doing.

The man who brought Bushwood Country Club assistant greenskeeper Carl Spackler to life in the 1980 cult-classic movie, "Caddyshack," signed more autographs than any touring player and generated a buzz marketing people dream of creating. But that was 1994.

Flash forward to 2015 Quad Cities' PGA John Deere Classic. In the land where Chicago Cub and St. Louis Cardinal fans mingle with mutual distrust, one of the more visible Cub fans made an appearance the local news media still talks about.

Fresh off watching the final

Grateful Dead concert in Chicago days earlier, Murray was as charming and delightful in the sarcastic, snarky, cynically, and flip way he helped define in the late 70's and early 80's on television and movies. And people showed up in droves from hours away.

Beman retired as Commissioner in mid-1994, shortly afterward the public remarks about Murray. By this time new commissioner Tim Finchem did anything but deter Murray from being a pro am participant. Anywhere he golfed put the PGA on local and national sports segments on Wednesdays, a day of the week it rarely appears.

So what happened? Granted, Tiger Woods had a big part in the PGA's elevation, but Murray is one of the game's biggest fans, among players and fellow fans alike. One of the reasons has to be a generational attitude shift.

Don't have any hard evidence to back this up but having a father more oriented to the Rat Pack and big band music rather than The Beatles has something to do with it. They had humor, but it was the type of humor seen on handful of Bob Hope annual specials and the Dean Martin celebrity roasts. Music was not American Bandstand or Elvis, but the Saturday night staple of Lawrence Welk. He didn't get a lot of the humor I grew up with in the 70's and 80's, but now his generation is in the twilight of life while my generation has been bowling SASBA's for a number of years. The following generation grew up with video games, constant on-screen graphics for televised sports. The younger generation sees Murray as anything but the crabby old man who yells at the kids to, "get off my lawn," so he is what is called a "warm fuzzy" or something familiar and comfortable.

As sports has become increasingly marketed as entertainment, how many times have you heard part of attending a show "is the experience." It's the whole atmosphere. And that's just for people watching at home. I'll explain more on that next week.

There's the in-game presentation as well. For years, the only pro baseball games I had seen in person were in a major league ballpark. Then, I split a pair of season tickets with a bowling buddy of mine for the Kane County Cougars, then a Class A affiliate of the Florida Marlins. In-between inning entertainment was much more intense than I had seen before. It was all staples of minor league fare, but it was brand new to me. It kept the flow of the game going. Some of this has been brought back in newer MLB parks and with remodeling of existing parks offering different areas for fans to enjoy. You don't have to sit in stadium or arena seats for up to three hours anymore. Special lounges for adults and special play areas for kids are standards in today's billion-dollar stadia.

It's more than just the game and where it goes in the next twenty years is anyone's guess. But Bill Murray is a special VIP on the PGA Tour as well as Chicago's Wrigley Field.

Want to note the passing of PBA titlist Ed Bourdase, who once was quoted as saying "spares are for sissies." What you may not know is Ed wore something on his person later banned by the PBA until the summer of 1993, and that is facial hair below the lower lip.

When I joined the Association over thirty years ago, facial hair below the lower lip was specifically noted to be a no-no in the guidelines of appropriate PBA player appearance. Members could have a mustache as long as it did not extend lower than the lower lip.

USA, COLOMBIA

Guerrero to take control. "I am very excited to have won this gold medal," Guerrero said. "It was a very tough week. The beginning didn't go as well as planned with Maria in doubles, and we didn't make the decisions we needed to in order to win a medal for our country. We needed to regroup, and we changed some strategies for singles. We're so glad we both then were able to medal. It was just incredible, and we are very, very happy. It means so much for our country, and we appreciate all of the continued support."

The women's semifinals featured two players from Mexico and two from Colombia.

Guerrero earned her spot in the championship match with a 213-202 win over Mexico's Iliana Lomeli, and Zetter cruised past Colombia's Maria Jose Rodriguez, also a PWBA Tour champion, 185-146.

One men's semifinals featured a showdown between Pate and his Team USA teammate Jakob Butturff, and the other included Suartz and left-hander Jean Perez of Puerto Rico.

Butturff outdistanced the field in singles by more than 400 pins, which included 12 games of qualifying and eight games of round-robin match play, and the all-Team USA semifinal was equally high-scoring, with Pate winning 275-268.

Martilla 225-549, Stee McBride 227-601, Sue Ellis 187-523, Cathy Eberly 213-526. Debbie Colby 215-611, Scott Orofino 221-650.

Pate averaged 219 over 32 games this week in Peru, but his average for six games on the fresh 41-foot World Bowling Rome oil pattern prior to the championships match was 252.

He started the match against Butturff with nine consecutive, before his 10th shot sailed right, nearly leaving 2-8-10 split. Instead, it was just a 10 pin that ended his run at his second perfect game of the day and third in two events at the newly built bowling center. His first came in April at the Pan American Bowling Confederation Men's Championships.

Pate spared the 10 pin for the win, and the difference in the match ended up being 7 pins from Butturff in the first and sixth frames.

"It's never fun bowling your teammate, but, at the same time, that meant we both medaled and were guaranteed a chance at gold, which is what we came here for," Pate said. "I got a few key breaks in the match, and I was fortunate to advance. Jakob bowled great all week and just fell victim to the format, unfortunately."

Suartz defeated Perez 234-213 to earn the meeting with Pate.

Butturff and Perez each earned bronze medals for their finishes.

Pate never would've been in a position to compete in the medal round if he hadn't been mentally tough from the first day of competition.

His opening block of 1,172 left him in the bottom 10 of the 32-player field, but he was able to keep a positive outlook and improve his performance each day.

He said that watching Butturff strike as much as he did on the way to record scores in doubles and singles motivated him to want to strike more, too. He added six-game sets of 1,319, 1,361 and 1,398 and qualified sixth for match play based on the latter 12 games.

All competitors bowled 12 games of qualifying over two days, and total pinfall determined who moved on to round-robin match play. Match play included seven head-to-head matches, with 20 bonus pins for each win, and a position round.

Pate started the eight-game round-robin match play with games of 300 and 268 and catapulted into the top four. Despite a few hiccups, he was able to hold on to the No. 4 seed for the semifinals.

The perfect game tied his for the highest game of the tournament, while the 125 he posted in the fourth game of doubles was the lowest game rolled in the men's division all week.

"I didn't bowl well the first day, and things just weren't going my way, but I fought tough mentally, and watching Jakob really did make me want to strike more, too," Pate said. "Pushing through the mental blocks was the key, and it was nice to see all of the hard work pay off in such a special event. I also have been using a breathing technique that helps get my mind clear. When your mind isn't clear, you can't make good decisions."

Along with equipment and lane play adjustments, Pate was very focused on how he reacted to the things that were happening, particularly not letting the bad shots and bad breaks affect the shots or games that followed.

The week started with 12 games of doubles over two days, with total pinfall determining the medalists.

Team USA's medal haul in Peru included a silver medal in doubles for Pate and Butturff and a gold medal in doubles for Shannon O'Keefe and Stefanie Johnson.

O'Keefe qualified for singles match play and finished sixth, while Johnson finished 18th.

"It's hard to put into words how great this week was for Team USA," Team USA head coach Rod Ross said. "The players fought on tough conditions that were high scoring because of the elite field but transi-

Rodriguez bounced back from an early miscue in her opening match against Latvia's Diana Zavjalova to collect a 212-193 victory. Rodriguez missed a 10 pin in the third frame but rolled strikes on five of her next six shots on the way to the win.

A total of 32 players earned spots in this week's main field. The top 24 players on the 2019 PWBA points list (through the U.S. Women's Open) secured automatic spots in the field, while a PTQ held Thursday at Three players in the elite field - Erin McCarthy of Omaha, Nebraska, and Singapore's Shayna Ng and Cherie Tan - did not compete this week, which allowed 11 bowlers to advance from the PTQ.

tioned quite a bit each day. I'm extremely proud of them and their perseverance, and to come away with two golds, a silver and a bronze is phenomenal."

This year's Pan Am Games is expected to bring more than 6,700 athletes to Lima to compete in 39 sports and 61 disciplines.

Since bowling was added to the Pan American Games in 1991, Team USA has won 23 of a possible 36 gold medals and claimed 39 medals overall, almost 25 more than the next-closest country.

The 2019 event was the highest-scoring in history and featured nearly a dozen scoring records. That included five perfect games, which were rolled by Jonaykel Conejo of Costa Rica, Puerto Rico's Perez, Brazil's Suartz, Dan MacLelland of Canada and Team USA's Pate.
